

January 26, 2012
Tevet 2, 5772
Candle Lighting: 4:51 pm

For grades 3
TORAHpedia
Lesson 7: Zrizut

THE DIALOGUE

A WEEKLY MAGAZINE FOR THE CHABAD HEBREW SCHOOL COMMUNITY

Wanted....
A cool friend, the type who runs to save you from your mountain-high pile of textbooks before they hit the floor.
Eager to help out whenever, wherever.
Fun-loving a great plus.
Call Looking Larry

Wanted....
My kids- but with an altered attitude- Siblings without rivalry who take initiative when the baby is crying, putting effort into making each other happy.
Good-natured and helpful.
Call Diplomatic Dad

Wanted....
A super student who learns with energy, and gets the others to do the same.
Upbeat and downright fabulous.
See Teacher B Positive

Wanted....
A bubbly babysitter who is eager to do her job right.
Must have an easy-going attitude and a love of two-year-old teetering triplets.
Call Magnificent Mom

Wanted...
Speedy soccer player for the Whiz Team, with a willingness to (some type of 'coaching' to a kid that can't get a technique right- can you tell I have no interest in sports??)
Looking for a real sport.
Call Coach Caring

Wanted...
Speedy soccer player for the Whiz Team, with a willingness to (some type of 'coaching' to a kid that can't get a technique right- can you tell I have no interest in sports??)
Looking for a real sport.
Call Coach Caring

Has there ever been a time when you just couldn't get around to doing something? Yes, it was important. Yes, it was the right thing to do. Yes, you knew you had to do it. But...you just were feeling lazy. Well, here's a super-tool called ZRIZUT - quickness. It describes the way we are supposed to do things. Look at this way: Imagine you hear that someone is giving away free jewels, wouldn't you rush over to get them no matter how tired or "not in the mood" you felt? We must feel as if opportunities to help people are like jewels. If we wouldn't waste the opportunity to get those free jewels, we shouldn't miss the opportunity to help people. Of course, ZRIZUT doesn't mean that we should do things speedily, without regard to the quality of the job. [Think of what a quickly-made bed might look like, the blanket and pillow lopsided and hanging off of the bed... ;-)] We shouldn't trade our effectiveness for speed. ZRIZUT is about doing things with ENTHUSIASM.